

Gangtok, 8th March, 2018 (IPR): The Tribal Research Institute, Social Justice Empowerment and Welfare Department, GoS organised a five day workshop on " Preservation, Promotion and Further enrichment of Tribal Culture Tradition and Heritage of Sikkim" from 8th to 12th March at the Conference Hall, Samaj Kalyan Bhawan, Gangtok.

Shri. Sonam Gyatso Bhutia, Chairman, Tribal Welfare Board, SJE&WD chaired the inaugural session as the Chief Guest who spoke about Workshop which emphasizes on the overall development of Tribals of Sikkim whilst the participation should be done from the majority of students and academicians of Sikkim. He further spoke about how we as humans have all evolved owing to forests and nature as our guardian. He also acknowledged the HCMs initiatives towards the development and promotion of the tribals of Sikkim.

Smt. Sarala Rai, IAS, Secretary, SJE&WD while addressing the congregation spoke on the different concepts of tribals in India. She emphasised on the importance of the progressive technologies and how they can be used to promote and preserve Tribal Culture Traditions in Sikkim. She urged the budding scholars and academicians to work for their upliftment in the state and come up with concrete advice for the welfare of tribals.

The workshop will continue till the 12th March,2018.

